

Name: Amrita Ghosh, MD PhD

Specialty: Hospice and Palliative medicine

Education: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Rutgers School of Medicine

What is your approach to patient care? I love what I do and I love helping patients and families to understand their illnesses and understand where their medical journey is taking them.

What types of patients do you see? Patients with advanced illness and those with hardship are among those I serve.

How is your practice different from others? I believe that patients, families, and their physician are a team that works together to achieve the best medical care possible.

Are you from this area? I have lived all over the east coast and my family and I have settled in Maryland.

What do you enjoy most about being a doctor? Serving patients and their families is the most rewarding experience as a doctor. Being able to make sure their experience is as you would want your own family's is the ideal that we all strive for.
